LABAF 25

...shots through time...

LAGOS BOOK & ART FESTIVAL, LABAF 2023

The theme for the 2023 edition is THE RESET: History and the Darkling Plain, and it is designed to reflect on the various critical points in the history of Nigeria-and by extension the histories of rest of Africa and the world- through written texts and performances in drama, music, poetry and the visual arts etc . The essence is to mine those lessons in the political and cultural history of the nation to plot a progressive direction for its future, as we settle into, and navigate the constructs of a new political dispensation.

NB: Please see full narrative on the theme below

LABAF commenced in 1999, the year of the nation's return to civil rule.

Though a literary feast of ideas and life in outlook, the festival has over the years, metamorphosed to being a Campaign for LITERACY devoted to heightening interest of the populace to be active participants in the knowledge economy that currently rules transactions in global political, economic and cultural affairs. The festival is focused on three thematic elements: EDUCATION. ENLIGHTENMENT. EMPOWERMENT.

LABAF's main programme iterations include:

- Conversations around ideas contained in the books of the festival – relevant to the theme of the festival
 - Readings, Reviews and sessions on Writing and Publishing
 - Exhibitions of Books and Visual Arts
 - Workshops and Mentoring Sessions for young people
 - Performances in Poetry, Drama, Music, Dance etc
 - Arthouse celebrations of eminent artistes and culture workers who have registered their names and footprints in the cause of nation building – the idea is to set them up as role models for both old and young people – to inspire hope, motivate them to aspire to greater accomplishments in their chosen careers or vocation
- Specifically for young people, the festival also stages
- Green Festival - devoted to students in Junior and Senior Secondary schools. This is in partnership with Children And The Environment, CATE.
 - CORA Youth Creative Club -- which yearly congregate youths and young adults from different parts of the countries for mentoring and training in their natural talents and acquired skills. This is in partnership with Events By Nature.

NARRATIVE ON THE THEME

The Reset: History and the Darkling Plain

With The Reset, LABAF continues the debate around the national question through reviews and discussions of selected books that speak to the theme. The basic tenet is that a nation is imagined at the level of ideas, before it is physically constructed.

The conversations at every LABAF since 2005 have been a set of reviews of arguments about the nation building project and the current status of our collective humanity.

LABAF started in 1999, the year of Nigeria's return to democracy, but it was in 2005, at the 7th edition, for which we chose the theme: Narrations of Survival, that we began to purposefully set a theme around which the festival-long conversations would coalesce.

In the last five years however, every theme has been a takeoff, or a riff off the prior year's theme.

In 2020, we examined the nation/the world in a state of flux, a period of languor, so the theme was A State of Flux.

In 2021, we (the nation/the planet) had left the state of flux, but we were at a crossroad. So, the festival chose: A Fork in the Road.

In 2022, we were glimpsing 2023, a year in which we would go for elections. What better way to prepare everyone's mind for the choices to be made at the polls, than examine the kind of future we wanted for ourselves? LABAF's 2022 theme was thus "Pathways to the Future".

2023...

Now we have a newly elected government which has taken over an estate nearing a Failed state. The world abroad is in a bigger turmoil than the one that greeted Donald Trump in 2016. To get a grip on how we can reclaim our country, we have to examine where we are coming from.

It is those historical texts that we hope to engage more at the 2023 feast. LABAF 2023 seeks to engage with the past, learn and relearn from it and organize the future. That is why we chose the theme The Reset: History and the Darkling Plain.

The word is a much darker plain than Ken Saro-Wiwa glimpsed when he wrote On A Darkling Plain, an extended argument against the Biafra war, one of the few texts about the war from the perspective of a minority.

By gifting the festival its theme, the book becomes one of the 15 books of LABAF 2023. Other books that will be discussed in the course of the seven days include

FICTION: SARO, by Nike Campbell | Little Suns, by Zakes Mda | Dust Child, by Nguyễn Phan Quế Mai

The CORA LIBRARY & RESOURCE CENTRE

CORAVille
Freedom Park

On occasion of the 25th anniversary of its flagship programme, Lagos Book & Art Festival, LABAF, the CORA inaugurates its Library & Resource Centre. Located at CORAVille -- a section of the monumental space for creative production and expression, Freedom Park, the CORA L&RC is expected to serve the interest of the general public, in particular students and youths.

The intention is to continue to encourage the citizenry to see EDUCATION as the singular key to ENLIGHTENMENT and EMPOWERMENT – all in the cause of Nation-Building and Human Capital Development.

The Library will hold regular literary activities, especially the flagship CORA BOOKTrek, the Literacy Campaign project, which brings authors into direct encounters with readers of their works.

The LR &C will also stage regular programmes on such key literacy-improvement engagements as workshops and seminars on writing, reading, speechmaking among others. It will be a home to fellow artists organisations committed to deepening LITERACY in the national consciousness.

The project enjoys the support of several organisations and individuals, notably Freedom Park, Chief Kayode. Aderinokun (Chair CORA Trustee), the esteemed CORA Board members, subscribers and volunteers, and, especially the support of Hawthornden Foundation.

Essentially, it benefits from donations by authors, publishers, bookstores, and members of the public in general.

5pm: ARTHOUSE FORUM @Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Theme: THE STORYTELLER AS EVANGELIST OF

CULTURAL RECENTERING: A celebration of Femi Odugbemi @60

Synopsis: CORA celebrates and honours the quintessential Storyteller and Content Producer, FEMI ODUGBEMI, who clocked the diamond age of 60 in May 2023. Through his well-applauded and travelled body of work Odugbemi has shown how the Film medium, especially the documentary format, could help to deepen the spread of LITERACY among the citizenry, and as well help to increase in effect, bolster Human Capital Development in the course of Nation-building. Odugbemi has been a consistent advocate for African storytelling to be authentic in content and context; to dig deeper into the cultural environment from which they are produced, and in which they are first consumed before they become global products. His argument segued in to the critical conviction that an artist or creative producer must be conscious of the cultural and environmental universe of his/her work to gain relevance and acceptability in the global market. His argument challenges the nature, texture and character of the SCRIPTING and NARRATIVE content, form, style and technique of the extant Nigerian movie system dubbed christened NOLLYWOOD.

Event Structure: The session is divided into three:

1. 5pm: SEMINAR:

A panel discussion on challenges of SCRIPTING that is critically viewed as the existential problem of Nollywood. Panelists, comprising scriptwriters, directors, producers, critics and viewers will examine the issue of scripting from diverse angles

2. 7pm: FILM SCREENING

Showcase of some of selected films of the honoree Odugbemi's films:

- Ibadan – Cradle of Literati -- 2009
- Oriki – 2008
- Bariga Boys – 2009
- Fagunwa: Literature, Language, and Literalism; 2016

3. 9pm: PROFILING

Screening of the interview documentary:

Femi Odugbemi: On The Shoulders of Giants, by Toyin Akinosho

Followed by Q&A with the quintessential Storyteller

DAY 5: FRIDAY NOVEMBER 17

(Ideas Day)

9am: GREEN FESTIVAL 18 @The Garden

The Green Festival is LABAF's gift to the children and youths of Nigeria to ensure that they become active participants in the conversations shaping their environment and country. It is an initiative of CATE (Children and the Environment), frontline child-friendly non-profit organisation led by Adesola Alamutu (aka Green Queen), who has spent her entire career inculcating the virtues of protection of the environment in the young ones. Now in its 18th season, the Green Festival will this year feature 18 authors -- some of them children writers, and those who write for young readers).

Aside reading and mentoring on writing and creating artworks, the session will feature creative workshops and expressions by scores of pupils/students drawn from schools around Lagos.

Reading and conversations around

- Peter Enahoro: Then Spoke The Thunder
- Akin Mabogunje: A Measure of Grace

Moderator: Kunle Ajibade, writer/journalist, Exec. Editor, The News

As we determine to use history as a guide to reset the path to greatness of our country, we have selected two books written by Nigerians born in the 1930s, who came of age as the ferment for independence was in full swing, had distinguished careers in the early decades after the lowering of the Union Jack and settled into fully, highly productive citizens in the three decades afterwards.

4pm: JOY OF READING @The Garden

Concept: ABE-IGI... The Act

The event is curated in the format of theatrical agit-prop – which means that the reading and conversations can happen in unusual spaces. This maiden edition features 'Sixty Percent of a True Story' by

'Sixty Percent of a True Story' follows three undergraduates, Osisiye, Korede, and Chris, as they navigate the challenges of university life in Lagos, Nigeria. Osisiye dreams of high grades, while Korede is a depressive introvert. Chris, an internet fraudster, is a staple in Nigeria's urban lore. The story explores personal choices, societal expectations, and the complexities of Lagos.

(Curated by Lucia Ikediashi for Shimmers & CORA)

4.30 pm: COLLOQUIUM (2) @Kongi's Harvest Art Gallery

Theme: The Future Glimpsed in the Past

Reading and conversations around

- Nnamdi Azikiwe: My Odyssey
- Femi Olugbile: PELEWURA

What would history, as we know it, be without the cult of the personality? In the Festival's choice of historical texts as tools to examine how the Nigerian state can reset its governance machinery to serve the people better, we have chosen to engage with the sagas of two individuals, preferably non-monarchical, who championed rights of the people in different ways. Their stories offer us different compasses to navigate how constructs of statehood should have, or not have been.

Pelewura was the first Iyaloja of Lagos. In telling her story in factional form, the author Femi Olugbile weaves a fascinating narrative of colonial Lagos, Nnamdi Azikiwe's transverses were more of a global nature; including the Gold Coast, the United Kingdom, the United States, before returning to Nigeria to play a key role in the independence movement.

From the history and herstory, we ask a simple question: How differently could it all have turned out? What alternative future can we extract from these trajectories?

5.30 pm: BOOKTREK (3) @CORAVille

Event: Authors Assembly

1.30pm: COLLOQUIUM @ Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Theme: Biafran Narratives: War without End

Reading and conversations around

i. Ken Saro Wiwa: On a Darkling Plain;

ii. Max Siollun: Oil, Politics & Violence: Nigeria's Military Coup Culture, 1966 -1976)

The Nigerian civil war has remained, stubbornly, the most defining episode in the shaping of Nigeria's postcolonial history. Its textual narratives-direct and derived-constitute, perhaps, the largest group of literary material in the country's modern historical library. The trauma and scars of the three-year war fought in the 1960s, define Nigerian politics till this day and was effectively the back drop against which the last elections to the national offices were fought. A Nigerian literary festival which uses history as the peg for its main discourses cannot disclaim a robust discussion of the raison d'être for the hostilities

3.00pm: AUTHOR'S ASSEMBLY @CORAVille

Event: Authors of books that have featured in past CORA's Community Literacy Outreach engagement are presented to new audiences attending the festival. Here the contents of the book is further exposed to the general public.

Reading and conversations around

- i. Dotun Famoriyo: Better Tomorrow
- ii. Nora Sanya: Dear Mother

4.00pm: SEMINAR @CORAVille

Theme: A Fourth Generation of Nigerian Writers? Trends and Times

Several discourses have arisen in recent times concerning the trends and issues of contemporary Nigerian literature. Some observers note that Nigerian writing has deviated from the marks set by the Soyinka, Achebe to Osundare, Ofeimun, and Ojaide generation. This conversation is still ongoing on social media platforms but has not been engaged in any physical event in the country.

The session will feature both physical and virtual sessions, have contemporary young writers from all over the country engage on the trends of their time, their scope and aesthetic rupture.

Moderator: Oko Owi Ocho

5pm: BOOKTREK (3) @CORAVille

The CORA Book Trek is CORA's extension services to promoting READING CULTURE, deepening LITERARY APPRECIATION and AUDIENCE ENGAGEMENT with the published text, as well as spreading campaign for LITERACY towards boosting citizens' EDUCATION, ENLIGHTENMENT and EMPOWERMENT, ostensibly to achieve CORA's fundamental mission of building HUMAN CAPITAL capacity of the nation and the continent.

In the second BookTrek for the LABAF 2023, two authors engage the audience on the contents of their books:

Featuring authors:

- i. Aaze Tom Adaba: But For God
- ii. Vincent Osatohan Azeta: The Mercy Streak

3.30pm: COLLOQUIUM @Kongi's Harvest Art Gallery

Theme: Revisiting the Future in the Past: Biafran Narratives

Reading and Discussions around:

- i. Uche Nwokedi: A Shred of Fear
- ii. Emmanuel Iduma: I am Still with You

Can personal stories of loss unleash the collective empathy of compatriots from across the nation in ways that textual engagements with the purpose and conduct of the war by generals, politicians, even novelists cannot? How do individual journeys into the familial and communal experiences of the Biafran war help the purpose of a national reset?

5pm: AUTHORHOUSE CONVERSATION @Kongi's Harvest art Gallery

Event: The Memoirs Session

Theme: Is the Future Bound to The Past?

iii. Jide Ajide, John Ashima, Oluwole Agunbiade:

No Good Deed Goes Unpunished

iv. Simon Kolawole: Fellow Nigerians It's All Politics

8pm THE FESTIVAL PARTY @ FoodCourt

Event: An arthouse party celebrating landmark birthdays of distinguished contributors to the Nigerian Cultural Life

The LABAF is also a platform to celebrate eminent workers in, and patrons of the culture sector who clock milestone ages of 60s and above. These are people adjudged by the CORA ThinkTank to have used their natural and material resources to contribute to the flowering of the creative space. The idea is to set them up as models of emulation for young and old members of the society to find value in contributing selflessly to the growth the of the national economy through the creative industries.

9 pm: DRAMA @FoodCourt/Amphitheatre

(To be confirmed)

DAY 7: SUNDAY NOVEMBER 19 (Advocacy Day)

11am: FILM SCREENING @Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Theme: A Trip to the past...

Title: Lagos The Birth of a City of Style 1861 – 1967

The documentary celebrates the avant-garde spirit of an enigmatic, iconic city, spanning its journey from a small uninhabited farm of the Awori people, through its metamorphosis as a small trading centre and seaport, and on to its stellar status as the much sought-after pearl of the Colonial powers, and into its present status as a vibrant, prosperous, energetic economic and cultural powerhouse.

Directors: Emeka Ed Keazor & Muni King-Keazor

Executive Producers: Ugoma Adegoke and Bloom Art

1pm: SEMINAR @Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Screening of documentary on the journeys of the CORA & LABAF.

Followed by reviews of the 25th edition by members of the CORA Volunteers Corps

Anchor: Segun Aribisala

2pm: BOOKTREK @Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Event: CORA VOLUNTEERS' CORPS Converge

Theme: Contemplating the Future

The young literary-culture activists and intellectuals that constitute the CORA Volunteers Corps, CVC, engage texts that discourse prospects of Nigeria's future.

Featured Texts:

- i. Sycamore, by Betty Zainab
- ii. The Sun Shall Soon Shine,
by Adejoke Ajibade--Bakare

3pm: SEMINAR @Kongi's Harvest Gallery

Theme: From History to Here: Birth by LABAF

Oko Owi Ocho, Kemi Bakare, and Kiki -- three writers and resource persons who attended LABAF as teenagers and were inspired by the different activities reflect on how the festival has impacted their lives and careers. It is a 25th anniversary special tribute to the LABAF.

4.30m SEMINAR @Kongi's Harvest

Theme: Keys to the Knowledge Economy

Readings and discussions around:

Lawson Omokhodion: Powered by Poverty: a story of adversity, ambition, diligence and triumph

5:30pm: ART STAMPEDE @FoodCourt

Theme: Memo to the Ministry of Arts, Culture & Creative Economy

Stakeholders in the Culture sector dissect the current state of the Nigerian creative economy sector; offer blueprints on how the sector could tap into local and global resources to maximize gains and opportunities.

Featuring: Heads of Artists organisations, guilds, cohorts, advocates and activists. It is the Festival's PLENARY Wrap-up.

8pm: FESTIVAL WRAPS @ FoodCourt

LABAF 25.0 strolls into history on the wings of poetry.

The 2024 season begins with announcement of date and theme for next edition

About CORA

MISSION: To Create Enabling Environment for the Flourishing of the Contemporary Arts of Nigeria & the Continent.

VISION: To Make Art & Culture the Prime Destination for Investment in Nigeria and Africa.

DEFINITION: We Are 'Cultural Landscapists.'

CORA is the Winner of the Prince Claus Award, 2006.

History: The Committee for Relevant Art (CORA) came to life on June 2, 1991. It's a culture activist organisation with the agenda to facilitate creation of an enabling environment for the flourishing of the contemporary arts of Nigeria, in the forms of Literature, Theatre, Fine Art, Music, Movie as well as TV Programme Design and Production.

In the past three decades, CORA has been at the forefront of championing the major issues that have shaped – directly or otherwise – the cultural landscape of Nigeria. Some of the most forward-looking initiatives in the Nigerian culture environment came out of CORA-organised fora.

CORA has carried out its intermediation role through the vehicle of its various programmes, projects and activities including the following:

- ARTS STAMPEDE (quarterly since 1991)
- LABAF (annually since 1999)
- BOOKTREK
- ARTHOUSE FORUM (periodic since 2005)
- LAGOS CINEMA CARNIVAL (on rest)
- LAGOS THE CITY ARTS GUIDE (on rest)

CORA also convenes regular sessions of Lagos Circle of Critics; Culture Working Committee; Lagos Peppersoup Elites; Coalition of Nigerian Artists, CONA etc – these are special purpose vehicles (SPV) through which it accomplishes its broader objectives.

CORA is in relationship with Artists organisations/Associations and agencies within the culture bureaucracies; and periodically stages collaborative projects with these institutions.

ABOUT LABAF

LAUNCHED in September 1999, LABAF is a 25-year-old comprehensive week-long culture picnic. It features reading sessions, conversations around 'content and context of books', art and craft displays, children/students art workshops, Publishers-Booksellers-Writers-Readers' Forum, Writers' workshops, Book Trek, Book exhibitions, Drama skits, Live music, Poetry and Dance performances.

It is an ART festival with high BOOK content.

LABAF has over the years transformed from a Literary Festival to being a campaign for LITERACY – stressing on EDUCATION (knowledge acquisition which leads to mental capacitation), that guarantees ENLIGHTENMENT and ultimately leads to EMPOWERMENT that ensures active participation of the citizenry in discourses around the social, political, economic and cultural affairs of the nation, and the world by extension.

All of this is premised on tapping into the instrumentality of ARTS and CULTURE production and expression to deepen CIVIC engagement.

To this effect, the programming content at LABAF goes beyond creative writings and arts/craft materials to embrace non-fiction and other such cultural projects relevant to the theme of each edition.

LABAF in past decade and half has also gradually rebranded from being a project solely organised by CORA, to becoming a platform for other content producers to stage their events, or accomplish their projects. These are branded Partners, or Collaborators. Hence most of the events listed in the programme outline are by other producers who use the LABAF platform.

In fulfilment of CORA's desire, many other festivals – literary and cultural – have also grown out of the LABAF platform and flowering in their own distinct form and character, but essentially using the LABAF's template of committed and resilient operations to stay the course. This is thus fulfilling the CORA oft-expressed dream of ultimately having a culture festival in every city of the country and Africa, by extension.
